JOSEPH KANEFIELD PLANS TO JOIN SNELL & WILMER AS PARTNER IN PHOENIX OFFICE

PHOENIX (January 4, 2023) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Joseph Kanefield plans to join the firm’s Phoenix office on January 23, 2023, as a partner in the special litigation and compliance practice group.

“Joe will be a great addition to our team of highly talented attorneys. We look forward to his arrival at Snell & Wilmer,” said Matthew P. Feeney, firm chair.

“We are elated that Joe is joining our team. His insight and experience with government programs expand our already-existing deep bench to meet our clients’ needs. In addition, we look forward to supporting Joe’s continued dedication to community service and the legal profession,” said Brett W. Johnson, special litigation and compliance practice group leader and Phoenix partner.

Joseph Kanefield

Most recently, Kanefield served as Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich’s chief deputy and chief of staff. Kanefield is a litigator with an extensive background at all levels of federal and state courts. He has experience with government relations, election law, constitutional law, civil and appellate litigation, procurement, licensure, state and local tax matters, and campaign finance law. Kanefield also served as Arizona Governor Jan Brewer’s general counsel and as president of the State Bar of Arizona Board of Governors.

Kanefield received his J.D. from the University of Arizona and his B.S. from Arizona State University.
